(M. Smaldone/ P. Russo)

If crime is a natural human tendency then why are most crimes committed by people of the lower class? Crime is natural only as a rejection to social injustice and inequality; the more they force us down, the more defiant we become. This means that all the laws and all the policemen and all the prisons aren't going to change a fucking thing, they can only grow in numbers, waste more of our labor and take more of our lives!

No need for police anymore!

An even greater threat than communism to the American elite, Blacks, Hispanics, and Native Americans are forced, not by physical means but by social means, into ghettos and slums, poor districts and reservations, where they're left to endure their own anger. These are the most oppressed people in this country and this is precisely why crime rates in their communities are so high.

No need for police anymore!

Remove the whip from the backs of the workers and we'll do better work

Remove the gun from the backs of the people and we'll have a better society based on cooperation rather than competition. They need us to remain in power but we don't need them. We can take what's rightfully ours, and we don't need to do what they say. You know why?
BECAUSE WE ARE THEIR POWER!!

No need for police anymore!

Armies exist because money exists!
