You spend you life just thinking of how bad it could be But life gets tough so you close your eyes so you don't have to see
I don't think we recognize where our intentions seem to lead
So stop your tears of self-mutilation 'cause everything you got was free

MY FRIEND

I know a better way we can change today
Don't take your life for granted because it get worse
here everyday

Our lives are constantly connected in ways we'll never know
But we're taught to lie, hide behind the lines before the feelings start to grow
So live your life here as my friend or as my foe
'Cause I got no room for self-centered motherfuckers
If that's you you've got to go

I know a better way we can change today
Don't take your life for granted because it get worse

We've got to learn to react
No longer can we hide the facts
We've got to learn to react
Take a look at the hidden tracks

I know a better way we can change today
