just thinking of lies
I should have known about just thinking of times
I could have prevented
all those mistakes
why didn't you set me straight ? depending on you is like walking off a fucking cliff and I don't know if I can take it I don't know where we went wrong
I don't know if I can take it
I don't know where we went wrong
just thinking of lies
I should have known about
just thinking of times
and the biggest one I ever made was thinking there was something there ,and there never really was it's building up inside of me I've got to let it go
