Can a man be really sure of his spot
Can he hold on to the little that he thinks he's got
Can he look around him and trust what he sees
And can a woman be sure she'll still have a home
When the whole world leaves her all alone
Will she wake up with the flood around her knees

Needing one star falling?
Is there one star falling?

I see a man in a little back room
The shades are drawn and in the gloom
I see him on the floor with his head in his hands
And now he rises up with a vacant stare
As the camera fades and leaves him there
But still the picture remains of a broken man

Needing one star falling
Give me One star falling
Is There One star falling?
Is There One star falling?

So close your eyes and rest your head
Turn off the tv and go to bed
Will it still be there when you wake up
Cause danger rides on the wind tonight
And reason flickers like candlelight
So look up to the sky and wish for luck

Wish for one star falling
Wish for one star falling
Is there one star falling?
Please
Give me one star falling
