I see a planet that's glowing red
I see the millions burning in their beds
I see the beauty that might have been Torn from the future by hungry men

I have the same dreams every night
I wake up shaking in the morning light
I don't know what could be expected of me
I only know that I believe what I see

And you - do you see what I see
(Do you see what I see)
Yeah you - do you see what I see
(Do you see what I see)
What I see

Oh, this isn't quite the way I thought it would be
It seems they want to make a symbol of me
I have the powers that could keep us alive
It's a sugar-coated pill and it's bitter inside

I have the same dreams every night
I wake up shaking in the morning light
I don't know what could be expected of me
I only know that I believe what I see

And you - do you see what I see
(Do you see what I see)
Yeah you - do you see what I see
(Do you see what I see)
What I see

What I see - what I see
What I see...

And you - do you see what I see
Yeah you - can you see what I see
