I can't get the movie I want
The cool video store's too far away It's raining out so I'll have to put on with Blockbuster one more day
And sit through another plot chopped up letterboxed on my twelve inches screen Tomorrow I'll continue with the same thing again
I wish my life was effort free Whinning for what I want Cause trying is just too hard
Trying is just too hard, whinning for whta I want...
I can't get the record I want the indie shop's too far away
My brother lives in the city, he says he's going to tape it for me someday In the meantime, I'll listen to myself complain, tomorrow I'll continue with the same thing again
And what ain't right if you ask me, the best things in life you should come more easily Whinning for what I want
Trying is just too hard, whinning for whta I want...
