My parachute didn't open
And when my back up failed
The pixie dust prevailed
And I woke up next to you
All I wanted was to hold you

I was born in a city
However small
It held a hospital
For location where I came into being
It was all downhill from there

What do you do
When your life's a disaster
And you're moving faster
And it's getting harder to breathe

What do you say
To someone whose right but
You disagree
Even if it's the truth

I was told you are depressed
By a little bird
That was severely hurt
As it did not notice my window
It just flew wherever the wind blows
As it convulsed on the pavement
It whispered I am hated
Your genetic flaws
I said say it all
You can't decipher reflections from reality
But neither can I

I noticed neither can I
I noticed neither can I
I noticed neither can I

You are the circle
I am the square
I have the non cut
You have the cool hair

We both take showers
For almost an hour
But only once a week or two

What do you do
When your life's a disaster
And your moving faster
And it's getting harder to breathe

What do you say
To someone whose right but
You disagree
Even if it's the truth
