Chorus:

You'll forever live on, forever live on You'll forever live on, forever live on
You'll forever live on, you'll forever live on You'll forever live on, you'll forever live on

Verse 1:

I never thought that wearing no hoodie, could cause
your life.
And I never thought you could just kill somebody and go out the Same night.
Every dog that you see that bark, don't mean that he bite.
And everything that's black ain't even, everything that's pure ain't White
Cause you think that I'm doin wrong don't mean that you right.
Cause the ones that you think that won't, them the ones that might.
Some people in this world the system don't like.
When you living what you worth is how they value your life.
I can do all things through christ, who strengthen me.
And even when I pray I pray for my enemy.
And pa said it best "only God can judge me."
Trayvon lil homie, I want you to know you really touched me.

Chorus:

You'll forever live on, forever live on You'll forever live on, forever live on
You'll forever live on, you'll forever live on You'll forever live on, you'll forever live on

Verse 2:

Sometimes trying to live right, sometimes it seems so wrong,
Sometimes you tryin to get justice, sometimes it take so long.

But the ones that pose to keep in, be the ones they let go home.

But the ones that hustle and survive, be the ones they hold with no

Bond.

My son supposed to burry me, but I ain posed to burry
my son.

You can call me nigga all you want, but you ain't pose to treat me

Like one,

Pose to be able to express my self, and be able to dress how I Want.

Pose to be able to go where I please, and be able to leave when I'm

Done.

Should I think that you sell dope, just cause you drive a benz.

Should I think that zack in a gang, just cause he sag his pants.

What's right is right, what's wrong is wrong,

Trayvon martin, you'll forever live on.

Chorus:

You'll forever live on, forever live on

You'll forever live on, forever live on

You'll forever live on, you'll forever live on

You'll forever live on, you'll forever live on
