You've robbed the whole world's people taken them for fools Took their land you've ruined lives and imposed your alien rules
Sat back and you rubbed your hands and you took them for a ride

When the lies begin to crumble, you'll have nowhere
left to hide
When the lies begin to crumble, you'll have nowhere

You're stirring up a deadly war the rich against the poor
It's you who makes decisions it's you who opens sores Brother fighting brother and maybe you don't care who dies

When the lies begin to crumble, you'll have nowhere
left to hide
When the lies begin to crumble, you'll have nowhere

You'll have nowhere nowhere nowhere left to hide Better leave here quickly 'for the people start to rise Nowhere nowhere nowhere left to hide
You can stop the low waves ebbing but not the raging tide

It's you the arch-seducer controls the people's fate Whenever there is a civil war it's you who sets the pace
The people are united well if that destroys your lies

But when the lies begin to crumble, you'll have nowhere
When the lies begin to crumble, you'll have nowhere
