Well I ask myself what am I running from. Why cant I just relax? Ill have a panic attack and swear on my life that Im not going back no more. When the highlight of my day was playing Static Lullaby with A New Years Resolution. Act innocent it won't be long till things are figured out, and I know that it doesnt feel right. When the things I shouldnt know that I know, are theirs. When two un-faithful whores defy what matters they step on my back, promise to leave when we knew all the facts were fraud, well if I had it my way, theyd be so sorry. Far from innocent it takes to long till things are figured out and I know that it doesnt feel right. These things I shouldnt know that I know are theirs
