Wordly desires melt away as my heart turns to fire, fire for God, on fire for God. This pain that's called my reality, is this God's calling for me? Question of conformity bending to the world, sin revealed. God strengthen me, be my peace, repress my flesh, help me refuse conformity. Will it end or will you choose to hide the truth in the back of your mind to haunt you at a later time. Reality is unavoidable, Face it now and pursue the solution to your problems. Your solutions they lie at the foot of the cross. Accept the fact that only Christ can take away your sins and remove your guilt. I will change for you oh Lord your love goes down to the depths of darkness. I strive on the will only to fail.
God give me the strength to let go. As you peel the scales from my eyes, my sight returns to see the cross.
I see the cross as you show me my sin. Change me and make me new. Chains now free I rise up to walk with you.
