Change your mind
Change your mind
Haven't I been friend enough
For nothing to enter your mind?

Take your time
Take your time
By every means -- don't think I'd dream
Of speeding things along

Yes, take your precious second-guessing time
After all, your face and things will never fall
We will always be beautiful
Youthful and full-lipped and frisky and feeling
We're living the spring-time of life.

Change your mind, fool!
Change your mind
Isn't she the thing you dreamed
To hold those hopeless nights?

Oh, but take your time, fool!
Take your time
For sure, forget the way
You laid in bed and cried

Yes, take your precious second-guessing time
After all, your face and things will never fall
You will always be beautiful
Youthful and full-lipped and frisky and feeling
You're living the spring-time of life.
