Love was burning like the summer
We were lost in one another
Holding on, holding on
We could not escape the heat
Love was dangerous but sweet
And it was strong

Now you're talking 'bout your freedom
What is that you say?
You suddenly declared to me
Your independence day

Caught me by surprise
Fog turning to ice
Well it ain't even cold baby
How could it snow in July?

You led me to believe it
You found everything you needed
In my arms, for so long
I thought everything was fine
But now you're turning on a dime
And moving on, moving on

Well I should have brought my sweater
For a chill is in the air
There's a sudden change of weather
For which I am not prepared

Caught me by surprise
Fog turning to ice
Well it ain't even cold baby
How could it snow in July?

Well I should have brought my sweater
For a chill is in the air
There's a sudden change of weather
For which I am not prepared

Caught me by surprise
Fog turning to ice
Well it ain't even cold baby

How could it snow in July?

Caught me by surprise

Ohh

Ain't even cold baby

How could it snow in July?

Caught me by surprise
