Make a man do the job of a little boy
Make a mountain of moleskin
Half of half is really just a quarter
A quarter of a life is all that you've really been livin'
Driven to common denominator
You've got to be a part of something better
No need to be so scared now
You'll get what you've got comin'
Everybody wants to fall in love
Because they can

Travel all around visit new places
But what is there to prove you ever walked along that sea line
No one to corroborate your days spent
You've got to find a witness to your heartbeat
No need to feel so left out
You'll get what you've got comin'
Everybody wants to fall in love
And so they will

All your life
You look for someone
To make your life seem complete
Don't want to spend
Your whole life lonely
No one else has to
So why should you
No need to look so worried
You'll get what you've got comin'
Everybody wants to fall in love
And so they will
There's nothing to be scared of
You'll get what you've got comin'
Everybody wants to fall in love
Until they do
