You branded me with fingerprints
When you pulled me to your breast
Clinging to my vanity
'Til I was too weak to protest

You never leave me alone
I could've done the same to you

Armed with paralyzing focus
Angular and still
Anointing me with accolades
Designed to break my will
Two of us are waiting
For one of us to blink
One look into your transparent eyes
Reflects the way I think

You never leave me alone... leave me alone
I could've done the same to you
You want me for your own
A little too much to put me through

CHORUS

We are targets for each other
Look in the mirror and
My eyes are aimed at you
We resemble one another
I find my Target when
My eyes are aimed - at - you

I stretched out of my skin
You were tugging at my ego
Someone noticed my anatomy unraveling
In a flash of inward vision
I hurled humiliations at you
Somehow you never expected thunder from a quiet sky

My weapon is my point of view
You want me for your own

CHORUS

We are targets for each other
Look in the mirror and
My eyes are aimed at you
We resemble one another
I find my Target when
My eyes are aimed at you

When my eyes are aimed at you
I find my Target
I find my Target
