You said I don't know who you are Trying to reach you,
So near yet so far
You said I was falling apart
But, how did you notice
From this hole in your heart

I dreamed every second through every passing day
These dreams were reality
How was i to know that they'd fly away

You
You stole the sun from my day
You always had your own say
You're drifting away
You

Waiting for the moment to come
I'm lost in this maze, that I stumbled up on Dreaming of the beautiful end
These wounds don't heal easy
But I'm trying to mend

Won't walk any further baby, you're gonna watch me run
Been living in this fairytale for far to long Look what we've become

You
You stole the sun from my day
You always had your own say
You're drifting away
You

I dreamed every second through of every passing day
These dreams were reality
How was I to know they'd fly away

You
You stole the sun from my day
You always had your own say

You're drifting away
(I always thought I was right)

You
You stole the moon from my night
I always thought i was right
You've stolen my light
You

Yeah You
