In my head I know what Your word is saying
To turn away from all the things that temp me
In my head I try so hard to follow
And yet I fall and turn my face from You

I need to be broken speak the truth that I need
I put my trust in You I need You to break me
I need to be broken speak the truth that I need
I put my trust in You

In my head I hear Your voice ringing
You comfort me in every way that I need
In my head I see Your hand upon me
You shelter me from all the sin that I see

I need to be broken speak the truth that I need
I put my trust in You I need You to break me
I need to be broken speak the truth that I need
I put my trust in You I need You to break me

I need to be turned inside out
Let Your light in me shine through
I need You to tear down the walls that hold me
Till all I see is You

I need to be broken speak the truth that I need
I put my trust in You I need You to break me
I need to be broken speak the truth that I need
I put my trust in You I need You to break me
