

Poor Man's Riches "Second Skin"

Visit "Second Skin" on MotoLyrics.com

Dirt on my hands a bad taste left within my mouth I'm walking backwards to make sure that I'm the only one to see me now
I can't understand why my day seems to always go down south
Instincts of a lesson learned so long ago still I wonder how

Then all at once it comes to me
That though I'm weak in You I find my strength
I hide myself within Your wings
I'm standing free in a second skin that covers me

So overwhelmed be the voices of this conspiracy
They work together just to try to bring me down
But I call them out

Then all at once it comes to me
That though I'm weak in You I find my strength
I hide myself within Your wings
I'm standing free in a second skin that covers me

I'm seeing clear now the scales have fallen from my eyes and I know I'm finding truth now the old is taken away by the new and I know I'm living proof now every knee soon will bow and I know

Then all at once it comes to me
That though I'm weak in You I find my strength
I hide myself within Your wings
I'm standing free in a second skin that covers me

Visit Poor Man's Riches page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.