You worry about something
You worry about something left unsaid
You worry about time
You worry about when to get on track
And on't you know you've got to try
Don't you know you've got to try

You care about looks
Then you should just blow yourself away
And you would no more
And you will come crawling like a dog
Don't you now you've got to try
Don't you now you've got to try

Last night out with your friends
A sweet break from the pain
She had said the same before
And now what do you say?:

Please forgive me there's no reason for you to leave
me
Please don't don't go
Yes, I know I made some mistakes

Something, something left unsaid
Time, time to get on track

Please forgive me there's no reason for you to leave
me
Please don't don't go
Yes, I know I made some mistakes
But I'm not the only one
