I'm walking away, I'm feeling lonely
You've chosen your side, well yes I'm sorry
We once shared all these dreams
You made them disappear
The excuse was you grew up
More like you just gave up

Whatever happened to you
Fanatic and bright, good friends and humble
Whatever happened to you

I've chosen my side, I did from day one
Confused as I was I knew I would end up
Mistreated and betrayed
Still tempted to refrain
You went for what is real
I went with what I feared

I'm walking away, I'm feeling lonely

Whatever happened to you
Fanatic and bright, good friends and humble
Whatever happened to you

Your words are like clouds that suffocate me
Your reasons are flair and irritating
You're too young to be sure of what's best for yourself
You're too old to relate to my needs and my deeds
I portrait what you've missed could'uv been longed to be

Whatever happened to you
