Stall to shatter me. fill the best of hope with the Grains of a slave. why can't you slow down. shoot through
The dark with no faces. call me to settle down. roam Through your pockets for something you thought was mine.
You say things again for the last time. say things again
And again. call, keep me. something that was not mine to Save. she said I told you to throw your life away. now is The time you'd say anything. for the last time I will ask
What you want of me. and he said it wasn't built upon

Anything. and he said it wasn't worth it if I made you Feel this way. and he said it wasn't worth it if I made You feel like you're everything. I don't want to help
This knowing how far we've gone. if it wasn't worth it I'm ready to feel for the last time. then no one could Touch me. love is not for me. no one could save this from Me anyway it's my everything. for the last time I'll ask
You why
