"Born to sing"

When, the spotlight hits my face I'm alive
The stage is where I'll always survive
The only place where I want to be

When, I hear the audience coming in
For me the magic stars to begin
And then I know they've come to see me
When I hear the maestro strike up the band
And the drums begin to play
It's the only way that I understand
To live my life each day

I was born to sing for ever
Born to sing for you
And as long as we're together
There is nothing else I want to do
I was born to sing for ever
To me that's everything
And until the end of time
I know I'm born to sing

When, the rythme starts to beat in my brain
I sing the verse and then the refrain
I love to hear the sound of applause

When, the crowd appreciates what I do
I find that each performance is new
I go on singing that is because
There are those who thing that I am wasting my time
They say that life's not just a song
But as long as there is music and rythm
I know where I belong

I was born to sing for ever
Born to sing for you
And as long as we're together
There is nothing else I want to do
I was born to sing for ever
To me that's everything
And until the end of time
I know I born to sing

~Musique~

I was born to sing for ever
To me that's everything
And until the end of time
I know I want to sing.
