(Powderfinger/Fanning)
Memories are fading
A single voice complaining
While days are stacking up
It's hardly worth debating
The people are frustrated
Drink from poison cup
The system is collapsing
Conscience is relapsing
The damage has been done
On the day you come rising up
On the day you come rising up
Vision is rejected
The people's choice is tested
So ignorance has won
The children are infected
Remedy suggested
Don't drink from poison cup
Over population, media sensations
The damage has been done
On the day you come rising up
On the day you come rising up
