Every day the brainwash trend, repeating the words put into my head never thinkin about what they mean monotone, like a damn machine i stood in line, a single file a uniform to fit the style but my individuality they could never take from me shown a cross and made to pray do exactly what they say they told me it was the only way chant the same thing every day i put my hand upon my chest and say some words that were meaningless but deep inside i always knew your system sucks and so do you desensitized to almost everything conditioned to act without thinking [x2]
