she used to stand with a knife in her hand at the foot of his bed she wanted him dead for what he stole from her when she was only 10 now it's 4 years later and it happens much too much too often her bed he visits when he's drunk and it feels more like a coffin - and if she gouged out of his fuckin' eyes would it help him see all the pain the shame and the fuckin' misery she hates this fuckin' world she's daddy's little girl now she's a wreck we can connect I don't know what she's feelin' she concealed their little secret but it's more than her body he's stealing I wanted to die the day she cried in my arms when she broke down now she flinches when I touch her and she don't want me around
