

Preacher Gone To Texas "Blood Lost Like Innocence"

Through desperate eyes silver blades reflect Blood lost like innocence, in a sense
With nothing left, in a sense
Time brings endings, lives end too soon
The time telling of the ending of you
Blood lost like innocence
9pm saturday april night why did you have to die
9pm why'd you die
If love is giving, why did you give your life
If love is living why did you have to die
I deny that you leave so soon, but I accept the hurt in your loss and rebuild the lines in my life
I deny that you leave so soon
And remember the shimmering hopes of your day gone by, I deny
A final act of love, a tribute to you
I stand in remembrance, giving this to you
