

Pressure Drop "Promises"

I was known as the Nightingale
I played the game of life too long
Days of purple haze surround my eyes
Used abused my path is confused
Sweeter than honey
My vision was once clear
With promises, promises, promises
Pain shows in my eyes
My heart screams silently
There's something inside
That the world will never see
Remember me
As I used to be
Crowds have watched my face
And the songs of sorrow that it brings
Do I weep to ease my pain ?
Broken wings I've gotta fly
Lost rhymes, I've done my time
Memories have left my mind
My voice was once clear
With promises, promises
Pain shows in my eyes
My heart screams silently
There's something inside
That the world will never see
Remember me, remember me
Remember me as I used to be
Remember me, remember me, remember me
