Is it okay?

And here, again, the sound

Do I make it seem like this all goes on by?

Do you hear it out loud?

And you say:

"Call me, ever, on the charming sever

When the rain meets Never, yesterday"

And you say:

"Call me, ever, you may feel the weather get you down,

So you can bring the rain, bring the rain"

And so you come

And so you come

If I ever be so, so close to Heaven

And effortlessly drowning in you

If I could reach you by this

Never hold you close to what you wanted to do

And you say:

"Call me when you feel you've reached your tether and
then

Noone can be close to you"

"Bring me 'round when you have touched the ground,

When you can speak to me like others do"

Like others do.

You stand there

Like others do

So we have failed you.

Bring me 'round when you have touched the ground

When you can speak to me like others do

Call me when you feel you've reached your tether and
then

Noone can be close to you.

Bring me 'round when you touched the ground

When you can speak to me like others do.

Like others do

Like others do

You stand there

Like others do

So, we have failed you
Could love the same.
