VERSE 1:

Can you tell me what the deal is?
Can you tell me what you're feeling?
Without a red cup?
So can you tell me, tell me what's up?
I got your number babe the jigs up..
What's in the red cup?

PRECHORUS:

What's it tonite?
Is it Alize? Rum or Hennessey?
What's it tonite?
is it grand marnier?
maybe tannqueray?
I Dunno how to spell that I betcha I could smell that
from a mile away...
Hey hey

CHORUS:

What's in your cup?
is that
your version of love?
tell me
What's in your cup?
that's not what I would call real love
that's in your red cup...
that's in the red cup

VERSE 2:

Say can you tell me why it looks like..
Summer afternoons, cold nights
That's in your red cup
I don't mean to fuss and wine nooo..
But you smell just like a wino
without your red cup

PRECHORUS:

What's it tonite?
Is it gold patron?
Ciroc or Nuvo?

What's it tonite?
Is it Belvedere?
With the black label?
I Dunno how to spell that I betcha I could smell that
from a mile away...
Hey hey

CHORUS:

What's in your cup?
is that
your version of love?

tell me
What's in your cup?
that's not what I would call real love
that's in your red cup...
that's in the red cup

BRIDGE:

Can you tell me why
you always so intoxicated
When I just really wanna have a conversation..
And I can hardly understand one word
That's cause every other, other word is slurred
I was your tall glass of water
But you treated me like a daughter..
I wasn't really finished loving you yet
but you're so busy yelling with your napoleon complex

CHORUS:

What's in your cup?
is it your, is it your
version of love?
tell me
What's in your cup?
that's not what I would call good love

I think I love you more
When you got that red cup in your digitals...
I mean your fingertips
And when you put that plastic to your lips
I know you bout to say all the things you never did
When you were sober
Do I really want you to come over?
Gotta check the cabinets to see if I got more of the moët so before I say yes
Answer me a question : What's up in the red cup?

What's in your cup?
is it your, is it your
version of love?

What's in the red cup?
