

Priscilla Wright

"The Man In The Raincoat"

Visit "The Man In The Raincoat" on MotoLyrics.com

Late in the evening, out on the square
A man in a raincoat, standing there.
We met by the lamp where the newsboy cried.
He stole my heart with his laughing eyes.
Mmmmm

He took me dancing, dancing til dawn.
No happier couple had ever been born.
I felt lke a queen and he was my king.
He borrowed some money to buy me a ring.
Mmmmm

But I'm still alone. Now the cards are all down.
He's taken my money and skipped out of town.
Now when I pass the place where we met,
I'm wondering if I could forgive and forget.
Mmmmm

Visit Priscilla Wright page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.