You steal my breath and hide the words I wish to say.
You drive me crazy with these feelings I consistently can't explain.

This confinement can't contain.
And this straightjacket, it can't refrain.

Hold me one more time this might be out last goodbye.

It's easier to never hold than to let it slip when it's almost gone.

When I hear your name my sight fades to white.
How could I ever live up to you?
When I hear your voice my sight fades to white.
All I want is you.

I bet you never knew, behind every word I whispered I love you.
