Watching your face
I can't believe I'm still here
Why did these days
Bleed like I said
Do you want to take
A long hard look back
To know if I feel right now
It's everything

We're the life you dreamt such a perfect day
I can almost
See outside this place
That I left alone
Too long ago
I don't like the scars how they slip away
Now I'm taking everything you have

Why can't you go away
I can't stand your face right here now
Why can't you go away

Is this the only place
I know I'll hate to find out
I could never think of this end
Do you want to tell me
Things I don't know
Before I start the burning inside

We're the life you dreamt such a perfect day
I can almost
See outside this place
That I left alone
Too long ago
I don't like the scars how they slip away
Now I'm taking everything you have
Why can't you go away
Why can't you go away
