"Set Me Up"

Right in front of me
Dropping another game (NOW)
I watch your face as your eyes
Look down away my glance
I count the ways your little whispers swell to greet my daze
Underground, so down, your scene above me
Backstabbed as I hear the crack drop smack
So eager to put yourself above me
But now I see so cleary
And it's long past time for me to show you
I'm not down, I never could be

Speak my mind in response to your condescending way
Its not what you know
Its who you know
Of placing me below your feet
And all I know now is you live for the show
Smiles in my face with smirks in your eyes
And I understand what it means to be "Light" in your eyes, not I
Nor none of my attempts to be on the inside
And it's long past time for me to show you

I'm not down, I never could be
Set Me Up
Knocked down
Knocked down from your clique, you Understand how you rejected me

I look at your face and I weep for your scene
So I ask myself what needs to be said
What now, What light can I shed
Its a battle to fight off the angry thoughts
That runnin to escape my head, so
But i don't' have the right to explain myself to you
Its plain as day as you can see
So don't' look away, or turn away, or laugh away

Cause your "scene" is dead today

We can't bring ourselves back down to this level Am I, so different from you that you cannot dispel with your
Your no better than me
And living as one
Am I, so distant that I cannot break free from this stereotype today
Down with all that took us away from standing as one
Status and look in my face
And clean this stain Am I, so separate from you that you cannot regard me as equal
