"Never Alone"

So you're down and you feel so broken
You feel that you have been betrayed
You seek out all of the reasons in the mistakes that you made
Your world is toppling over
You watch the pieces fly
You are helpless to prevent it no matter how you cry
So tell me why! Why!

No one who ever lived has strength enough to stand alone
So take everything for today because tomorrow may be gone
Though the love has been here always, I know it is hard to show
One who is a friend will find that they never walk alone
Never Alone

Everyone learns from failure to rise each time they fall
For it is the only way life makes sense at all
It takes a lot of straining to walk that extra mile
Nothing is for free, we have to work for it all worthwhile
Tell me why! Why!

No one who ever lived has strength enough to stand alone
So take everything for today because tomorrow may be gone
Though the love has been here always, I know it is hard to show
One who is a friend will find that they never walk alone
Never Alone
