East and West could not agree So their generals gave a call and gathered troops at the border
With guns ready, drawn and aimed each side was praying to a God to bless them with strength and courage it was in His name that artillery lit the sky on fire the people sang protest songs to try and stop the soldier's gun

Protest Songs in a response to Military Aggression
Protest songs to try and stop the soldier's gun
But the battle raged on.....

Sirens filled the air and the ground shook with war Civilian casualties has been a cost that was predetermined when interviewed for report victims pleaded in frustration
Their claim: That this was a war without reason Bureaucrats engaged in debate to try and reach a resolution
the people sang protest songs to try and stop the
soldier's gun

Protest songs to try and stop the soldier's gun
But the battle raged on.....

The Broadcast like their prayers went unanswered and ignored god, like the rest of the world, just watched in silence There was purpose to be served, there were fortunes to be earned before a peace could be called to stop the fighting

Protest Songs in a response to Military Aggression
Protest songs to try and stop the soldier's gun
But the battle raged on.....
