Walking in a strange light
Looking at the walls
The walls are getting higher
And I think they're gonna fall

They're gonna fall down over me
Crush me til I scream
Now I'm only hoping
That I'm living in a dream
It's just a dream

Fear lies over me
I feel it all around
Something's looking at me
And I think it's got a crown

It's not a king or a queen
But something in between
Now I'm only hoping
That I'm living in a dream
It's just a dream

It's strange how things
Seem to be different
When you're living in a dream

It's strange how things
Seem to be different
When you're living in a dream

Wars and violence here
Happens every day
But I'm in another world
A million miles away

It's just like real life, true life
Living in a dream
But everything is better then
Or that's the way it seems
It's just a dream

It's strange how

Things seem to be different
When you're living in a dream

It's strange how
Things seem to be different
When you're living in a dream
