(Jon Axtell)

I ran into you two today
And it took me a moment to recognize you
Looking at you at each other's side
A wave of something passed over me
And it was warm for a moment I
Forgot where I was and
How I got there, feeling so undone
I suppose I could forgive
And for me forgiveness
Smells like a bloody defeat
I gave up on talking to either one of you
Long ago
Don't stop the course of things
For my sake please
It was warm for a moment, I
Felt as if my life had just started

Feeling invincible in light of
Forgiveness
I ran into you two today
And it took me a moment to recongnize you
Looking at you at each other's side
A wave of something passed over me
And I was warm for a moment, I
Forgot where I was and
How I got there, feeling so undone
I suppose I could forgive
I was warm for a moment, I
Felt as if my life had just started
Feeling invincible in light of
Forgiveness
