For a moment i believe, once you came you'll never leave, now like that is not enough for me.
You go the trackmarks of the trade, every promise that you made, swear that it would be the last for me.

Does it Give you a rush?to think that i want you so much?

Said you were back to stay, i should have known better now your half the way to california,
now im curled up on your side of the bed, thinking bout things you never said, i would have followed you to california.

Smokin like a cigarette,said that this wont hurt a bit, but you lied because it burns and it burns thanks alot for leaving town, im so high i cant calm down, makes me wonder if i'll ever learn

Dont it give you a rush to think that i want you so much?

Said you were back to stay, i should have known better now yout half the way to california
now im curled up on your side of the bed, thinkin bout things you never said

Do you come back cause you can?am i just waiting for a ghost of a man?

much?

Said you were back to stay,
i should have known better now your half the way to
california,
now im curled up on your side of the bed,

thinking bought things you never said,
i would have followed you to california.

Said you were back to stay,
i should have known better now your half the way to
california,
now im curled up on your side of the bed,
thinking bought things you never said,
i would have followed you to california.
