If there's a way, to make you understand then I'd try
Instead you send off, to the desert to die
Fulfilling destiny, the corporate wars begin
The turning of the dial, the smiles turn to sin
This hourglass flows parallel to the sands of time

Times up, lets go
Another reason why this city has to blow
Babylons a calling, don't you know

So did you hear, the empire always strikes back
They'll take you out, unlike the knife in our back
The middle class is gone, there's nowhere left to hide
Next phase enslave the poor, behind enemy lines
It's all a roll of the dice at this melee attack

Times up, lets go
Another reason why this city has to blow
Babylons a calling, don't you know
I hate to say it but I got no faith
Babylons a burning, come no love today
Holy war a devastate the kingdom say
Hey hey, we want to change it now, nah, can't wait

Firebomb, get your gun, strap em down
T-minus 30 seconds til the big one
Your record for reaction, not a very good run
... guess it's how the west was won
You used to be contender, now your laughing shame
In the world of the future, you got no game
For the reign of your terror, never see your major error
Don't ignore the jihad, never never know, when the pressures gonna blow
The pressures gonna blow

So now you had a chance, to understand what I've said
These little games, it all must come to an end
I'm fucking sick and tired of the calculated lines
Multiply and divide by the square root of your replies
The winds of change, come alive, with the scent of death

Times up, lets go
Another reason why this city has to blow
Babylons a calling, don't you know
I hate to say it but I got no faith
Babylons a burning, come no love today
Holy war a devastate the kingdom say
Hey hey, we want to change it now, nah, can't wait

Times up, lets go
Another reason why this city has to blow
Babylons a calling, don't you know
I hate to say it but I got no faith
Babylons a burning, come no love today
Holy war a devastate the kingdom say
Hey hey, we want to change it now, before it's too late...
