"Living In A Dream"

My teachers always told me I was dumb.
They told me I was ignorant, that I wasn't the one.
Their criticisms always put me down.
It just makes me stronger to look at where I am at right now.

Living in a dream, is what they said to me,
and no one's stopping me, from living out, living out my dreams
[X2]

I can't believe that you're making a fool out of me.
So I'm a disease, at least that's what everyone thinks.
I beg and I bleed, now my throats starting to bleed.
I'm not on the streets, sometimes this life doesn't make no sense to me.

Living in a dream, is what they said to me,
and no one's stopping me, from living out, living out my dreams

(You can't take my dreams away)

And all the times you told me that I would only end up,
but I will never end up like you, you're nothing,
and all the times you kicked me out, and pushed me down you know it only made me want to be something.

Living in a dream, is what they said to me,
and no one's stopping me, from living out, living out my dreams
