we breath in deep, I hold you close reach out and close the shutters on the window so no one can look and siturb the peace we have standing there outside the window

I've been trying, oh for so long so I keep trying to right the wrong so I write you another love song, but can't make up the words cause none describe the way that I feel about you so I write another verse and hope to show the way I feel inside the way I feel about you we drive real far, we get real close sit back; start smoking out the card window we turn the radio up, forget just where we are just smoking out the card window

I'm driving by myself and I don't feel special yeah when I'm by myself I still don't feel special and when I'm by myself I just don't feel special yeah when I'm by myself remember the night spent on the phone, we were alone?

you'll never know, just what you mean
