Hold the rain, hold the pain
Time doesn't measure the miles of change
When the sun comes down
Look to the stars and I'll be there

The breath of life is what we share
Trust your heart that faith is in the air
Distance has no limit on how small a prayer

Hold the rain, hold the pain
Together we will be again
No need for promises
Our hearts are wrapped as one across the skies of time

Never left you or broke freedom's paradigm
Separate lives is not a lovers crime
This souls connection is a love that never dies

The loss of tears and the pain we bare
Cause I am here and you are there
Dreams to hold you close
But nothing your touch compares

Hold the rain...
