"Let Heaven Show"

Here's my big heart, hiding from you so small
I watch time guide me like a fly stuck to the wall.
And I wonder... I wonder...
Who's to say what is right and what is so wrong?

What is to be... the hands of kind loving souls
Will do the best to take on a lover's load
But how far to go? Is it only heaven knows
What is the cost that no one falls or takes the blow!

There's a place and time will show
What is meant for yours to hold
Is there any reason to guess what is known in time?
Is there any reason to say you just know in your heart
And let it go and let heaven show

I reach for the light that exists with self sacrifice
To free expectation is the only advice
There will come an answer that loneliness will find
When the door opens to your own loving kind.

There's a place and time will show
What is meant for yours to hold...
