Visit "Forget" on MotoLyrics.com

I see things eye for an eye and still forget you
I can't think of the time when I thanked you
For everything I have and I will get myself
Foolish words that go hand in hand with no one else
I see the difference now upon it all so I'm told
I'll wonder in all the things you see
If you're not before the words that are killing me
You can get your own I won't stop you now
All the places my mind goes
I will forget the words
What can I do to the world that makes it good to you
Have you even though it would be a game of mine
The last thing I try stays and dies before your eyes
And you can't define anything you say to me
