

Damien Jurado

"Throwing Your Voice"

Visit "Throwing Your Voice" on MotoLyrics.com

I've got news for you: we all know
Stop acting like you've never heard this before
Blood on your hands leaving your mark
It's when you cross the line where the trouble starts
Michael you had a voice that learned to lie
It was the day that I fell apart that we almost died
I would like to think people change
But I've seen no evidence or the point it made

You can come back when you need

Michael I've had enough it's time to go
They're making it clear they don't want you here
You can throw your voice all you like
I don't want to see you return anytime
Shake off your doubt, grab a hold
Sometimes the hardest part is letting you go
You can always come back when you need
I'll leave the light, leave the light on

You can come back when you need

Visit Damien Jurado page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.