I'm sick of sitting at home
because I don't have an cash
My cable got cut off
so I watch re-runs of M*A*S*H if money don't buy happiness
then i don't know what does
if I had some I'd buy some booze,
at least I'd have a buzz.
They say that money's power, and power's what corrupts.
Well corrupt me quick, I'm really bored and I could use the bucks
The day will come, I'll get what's mine, I know the world owes me.
And all my friends will ride along,
when I win the lottery
When I win the lottery
My life will be a fantasy,
A tribute to my vanity.
That borders on insanity.
Hold court behind a barbed wire fence.
The king of jaded innocence,
A diletante of decadence,
The incarnation of excess
My house will be a pleasure dome just like Kubli-Khan's With a basement shooting range so I can play with all my guns.
I'll buy a liquor store to deliver just to me And live-in prostitutes will fulfill my every fantasy I'll hire washed up metal bands to play there every day, I'll fill my swimming pool up to the rim the Tanquray, Have a stable full of midgets that I'll train out in the yard, And hire old pro wrestlers to be my body guards.
When I win the lottery

My life will be a fantasy,
A tribute to my vanity.
That borders on insanity.
A lifestyle of debauchery,
Profanity and sodomy
I'm sick of sitting at home
because I don't have an cash
My cable got cut off
so I watch re-runs of M*A*S*H
then i don't know what does
if I had some I'd buy some booze,
at least I'd have a buzz.
When I win the lottery
My life will be a fantasy,
A tribute to my vanity.
That borders on insanity.
Hold court behind a barbed wire fence.
The king of jaded innocence,
A diletante of decadence,
The incarnation of excess
When I win the lottery
My life will be a fantasy,
A tribute to my vanity.
That borders on insanity.
A lifestyle of debauchery,
Profanity and sodomy
