The clock would ring just like a bell
The green in her eyes dropped out and fell
Everywhere but I don't care I can see
That she's made of something else entirely

Has she completely gone crazy
She kissed me back and ran
She's my electric harmony
And I'm her little paper tree

She looks me up and down again
She's looking out and I'm looking in
She's my electric harmony
I've counted all the things I can see

The spots and bumps and valleys that
Are keeping you in then you begin
To become a million things
I tried to gather all of them but I couldn't sing
Has she completely gone crazy
She kissed me back and ran
She's my electric harmony
And I'm her little paper tree

She looks me up and down again
She's looking out and I'm looking in
She's my electric harmony

Did I catch your name?
Was it something weird or something strange?
Did I catch your name? Did I catch your name?
Was it something strange?

She's my electric harmony
And I'm her little paper tree
She looks me up and down again
She's looking out and I'm looking in

She's my electric harmony
She's my electric harmony
