Oooh, yeah

When my reality hit
My tears nearly fell
You walked out of my life
As if saying 'Oh well'
You might have won
With breaking my heart
But your day will come
When all you've got comes falling apart

Everything you got from me
Will be easily taken away
Nothing ever stays the same

Of all the mistakes I've ever made
Falling in love with you makes the grade
Fighting for what I thought was mine
Ignoring your sorry excuses and lines
When you could really care less
And your hurting me was just fine
I came to terms with your sweet deception

I might not be the type to cheer on pain
When it comes your way
But I'll make sure I'll be the first to say
That you deserve it any way
I'll never take back what I said
All our days we spent in bed
The moon had shined for us those nights
But now you'll be gone and out of my sight

Everything you got from me
Will be easily taken away
Nothing ever stays the same

Of all the mistakes I've ever made
Falling in love with you makes the grade
Fighting for what I thought was mine
Ignoring your sorry excuses and lines
When you could really care less

And your hurting me was just fine
I came to terms with your sweet deception

Well, goodbye for now is what I've got left to say
And I can't wait for your sad and lonely day
Cause this time, boy, you ain't runnin' back
Cause my ass is gone, I'm already packed

Of all the mistakes I've ever made
Falling in love with you makes the grade
Fighting for what I thought was mine
Ignoring your sorry excuses and lines
When you could really care less
And your hurting me was just fine

Of all the mistakes I've ever made
Falling in love with you makes the grade
Fighting for what I thought was mine
Ignoring your sorry excuses and lines
When you could really care less
And your hurting me was just fine
I came to terms with your sweet deception
