speak - think - this time i take a second look this is the sole test of life - it can take you way out of line work again play again watch out cuz you'll break down again, fall down again not because of how i treat you not the things that i will teach you break down again, fall down again keep me cool so i can find a way out of here, to live my way hold on to something that is wrong for me, everyday can't let go in a world of thoughts and dreams from below, a planet mocks of me as it grows can not die - break, down, down take me down so far i cant get up again this is the part i'm just making up again. thinking, wait, cant seem to get a grip, so far out there i've lost the sole test of life - now my head is paralyzed, magnified climbing back, back to the top again - beam me up to sanity for god
you'll break down - you'll break down - break my crown
