I say hey, you say what,
Five minutes later you're calling me a pain in the butt,
And I'm out the door,
Thanks to something that poured,
Out of this hole in my head

You say why, I say 'cause,
Now I'm not really sure just what it was,
That I was talking about,
This stuff just sprouts,
Out of this hole in my head,

There's a crack in my windowpane,
The wind is whistling through my brain,
And I feel now pain, yet I feel shame,
Of all the things that I said,

Now I'm telling you wait, you say why,
I said baby look me straight in the eye,
'Cause that's where the truth will lie,
The rest of it flies,
Out of this hole in my head,

I'm lie alone on my big brass bed,
The light is shinning right through my head,
I just sit back with dread,
To the things instead, that I should of said,

Now I'm telling you good-bye, you say what,
I say stick here with me is gonna drive you nuts,
But you said that you don't mind,
You like the heart that you find
Here in this hole in my head,

Oh, You tell me that you don't mind,
You like the heart that you find,
In this hole in my head,
In this hole in my head,
In this hole in my head,
In this hole in my head
